Program Overview

This three-week English language and career development program is for students of English as an additional language. Monday and Wednesday classes focus on expanding students’ English skills—speaking, writing, listening, and reading. Tuesday and Thursday content lectures introduce students to the ways in which nongovernmental organizations, multilateral institutions, and the private sector respond to challenges that cross borders and affect global affairs. Topics will include:

- Global civil society organizations (CSOs)—their evolution and areas of impact in humanitarian, development, environment, and human rights issues
- Major financial, development, and trade institutions including the World Bank and International Monetary Fund, with a special focus on sustainable development and the effects of recent economic challenges on their mandates
- The role of multilateral organizations, particularly the United Nations and the World Trade Organization, including how they negotiate disputes to advance peace and security, provide development and humanitarian assistance, and encourage international cooperation on issues including climate change and the environmental crisis
- Relevant organizations such as the International Rescue Committee, the Rainforest Alliance, and the United Nations

Program Goals

Students will enhance their English language skills while building an understanding of international organizations.

- Develop listening and writing skills through note-taking activities and real-life practice in content lectures.
- Employ oral communication strategies with a focus on appropriateness, pronunciation, articulation, intonation, stress, and vocal projection.
- Demonstrate the ability to use new content-based vocabulary.
- Gain insight on international organizations and related careers.
- Apply content knowledge gained to the creation of a group presentation.

ELI Student Testimonies

“Studying English at the ELI does more than stimulate creativity and intellectual curiosity. I experienced the joy of collaboration, of adventure, of diversity and of a new culture. It is a path to unlimited possibilities because the professors, the classmates, and the whole city enriched my life. It is life changing.”

Masahiro Yoshida, Japan
Former ELI student

Stephanie Spatti, Italy
Former ELI student

“I learned to understand the American way of life from passionate and interesting teachers and students who still remain a part of my life.”

Simone Furtado, Brazil
Former ELI student

The NYU School of Professional Studies – Celebrating More Than 85 Years of Excellence in Applied Professional Education

For over 85 years, the NYU School of Professional Studies (NYU SPS) has been a deeply respected institution of higher education that is grounded in applied learning. From its early years, training returning World War II veterans to fulfill the nation’s urgent need for skilled technical workers, it has evolved into a professional education powerhouse that offers 20 graduate degrees, 13 bachelor’s degrees for traditional and post-traditional students, four associate’s degrees, and a plethora of non-degree courses and credentials.

NYU SPS is a thought leader, and serves as an incubator for new ideas in industries that are constantly changing, including real estate, real estate development, and construction management; hospitality, tourism, travel, and event management; global affairs and global security, conflict, and cybercrime; global sport and sports business; publishing; marketing; public relations; project management; executive coaching and organizational consulting; human resource management and development; human capital analytics and technology; management and systems; translation; and professional writing. It is focused on building skills that open doors to opportunities in emerging fields and global markets. NYU SPS faculty members are leading experts in their areas of discipline, with a hands-on approach that encourages students to push beyond their limits and to break new ground.

Home to some of the largest and most prestigious industry conferences in the world, including the Schack Institute of Real Estate’s Capital Markets Conference, REIT Symposium, and National Symposium of Women in Real Estate; and the Jonathan M. Tisch Center of Hospitality’s International Hospitality Industry Investment Conference, the School’s invaluable connections to industry leaders is a truly distinguishing factor in the education that it provides. Through career development services and resources provided by the NYU Wasserman Center for Career Development at NYU SPS, guest lecturers, site visits, participation in numerous conferences and events, and Global Field Intensives, students benefit from an NYU education that will set them apart. In addition, they have the opportunity to learn from and network with more than 30,000 NYU SPS alumni who live, work, and contribute to innovation in industry around the world. English Language Institute Established in 1945, the English Language Institute (ELI) was one of the first university-based language learning centers of its kind. Our mission is to provide the English language skills students need to communicate effectively in academic, professional, and social settings, enabling them to engage fully in our interconnected and interdependent global society. Our faculty members are specialists in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL) and will provide individualized attention to help you succeed. The ELI offers a comprehensive program of English language instruction and evaluation. We emphasize an integrated approach, ensuring that students gain a foundation in language structure and become comfortable and confident in communicating effectively in English.
